A dark blue background featuring a faint silhouette of a person walking across a stone bridge. The bridge is composed of rectangular blocks, and the person is in the middle of crossing it. The overall scene is dimly lit, with the person and bridge appearing as lighter shades against the dark background.

The background features a dark blue and purple color palette with a complex digital aesthetic. A prominent element is a blue submarine, oriented horizontally, with various digital overlays such as concentric circles, arrows, and data points. On the left side, the word "CYBER" is written vertically in a light blue font. The overall composition suggests a focus on digital defense and cybersecurity.

An isometric illustration of a meeting room where a crisis management exercise is taking place. Several people are seated around a table, some using laptops. The room is filled with various icons representing crisis management concepts: a bell, a clock, a scale of justice, a lightbulb, an exclamation mark, a hand pointing, and a magnifying glass. The word "EXERCISE" is written on the floor. The background is a dark blue gradient, and the text "Tester son dispositif de gestion de crise" is overlaid in white.
